Book About:

It is a small book encompassing diverse questions( mostly modern ones), which pertain to the prevailing classic concept of "love". Being a controversial issue, love is considered to be at the core of all interpretations in literature all over the world. In this book, the author has delineated the nature of love itself ,explicating and illustrating plenty of examples. Recoursing to the various perspectives and views including Sociology, anthropology, psychology and philosophy. In fact, the author has broached the subject of love proposing different intrinsic and basic questions on the nature of "love" itself. Is there any relation between the erotic love and the real love? Is terrestrial love against the "salvation"? Does it avoid salvation? Does love exist at all? Or we only might gain a kind of ' situation/ condition for love rather than love itself? This book has been published by Hezareh Ghoghnoos

Category: Academic

Publish Date: 2017

342 Pages

Dimension: 21x24

ISBN: 978-964-8792-12-6

Book About:

To summarize, the book is an attempt to illustrate Mahathir Mohamad leadership through a review of what he has accomplished and not what he wanted to do. In other words, the book tries to examine the reality of Malaysia under his leadership, avoiding bias in admiring or criticizing him without reason. The book begins, aimed at reviewing the Malaysian Government's success in its policies and development plans, which resulted in unprecedented economic growth in the country. After a discussion of the most developmental success achieved during Mahathir's leadership, the book focuses on his economic, social and political policies to promote Malaysia to the level of being recognized as the most developed Muslim country in the world. The book has six chapters with each chapter starting with a quote from Mahathir and an appropriate image.

Category: Literature

Publish Date: 2019

110 Pages

Dimension: 19x14

ISBN: 978-600-286-238-9

Book About:

The silent man is a dead person. Anyone who shows no retort to affairs around him, there is no divergence whether he is real or not. By drawing paintings on the walls of the cave, the first men hunt for to tell about their world. Now accessibility of powerful tools like language, word, pen, media, and cyberspace should not let us hold any word in our hearts. The contexts of this book are mostly the inside story and the writer's point of view about the events around him. You can name this game of playing by words whatever you wish for, but I am going to call it "In Praising of Life and Death." I believe that life and death are both adorable and equally gorgeous. This book is the end result of the frequent appeals of my friends to do printing and publishing them, and this is also to gather the scattered words, and perchance is even because of apprehensive of forgetfulness of memories. I wrote them under the nickname "Sorena Amiri" in cyberspace, and today, I publish the collection of the articles under the same name! Mrs. Marjan Seyyedi has done the English translation, and my professor Majid Jafari Aghdam has also helped me in editing them.
