Book About:

to me This pictorial guidebook and album contains some overall information about Iranian culture, civilization, geography, etc. in addition to a detailed list of tourist attracting sites in each city, for the use of tourists visiting Iran from different countries. Our main goal is to provide brief information about the country's history, nature, civilization, culture and language and provide a general picture of this ancient country and the character of the Iranians because Iran is not limited to its carpets and mats or historical buildings and sweet poetry. A tourist who visits Iran will quickly discover the life of the contemporary Iranian and the roots which binds him to his past. A traveler coming to Iran will have many beautiful scenes to inspect including different natural landscapes, seas, lakes, waterfalls, forests, mountains, deserts and wonderful historical monuments. A man or woman traveling to Iran besides getting acquainted with the ancient civilization of East will discover the changes in the modern towns and the country's assorted natural landscapes. Iran forms a bridge between the West and Fareast. One of the things which make Iran unique is its glorious history, ancient civilization and geography... .

Persepolis

Written by: Ali Reza Shaur Shahbazi

Illustrated by: Ali Reza Shaur Shahbazi

Publisher: Faranegar pars Publication

Category: Iranology

Publish Date: 2004

264 Pages

Dimension: 20x15

ISBN: 978-964-91960-5-3

Book About:

The literature on Persepolis, this crown jewel of the ancient Near Eastern art, is either reports of purely academic investigation or phantasies of uninformed profit seekers. The present volume fulfils the need for an authoritative and well-illustrated description of the monuments by one who served as their custodian for many years and who is universally acknowledged as an archaeologist and art historian of the first rank. Professor Shahbazi takes the reader through Persepolis, step by step, and describes the remains with accuracy and clarity, leaving no detail unexplained. The lavish illustrations chosen carefully and learnedly follow the description without overburdening the text with a series of unrelated pictures. The bibliography is designed to enhance the reader's appreciation of Persepolis and the art of the ancient Near East.

Author About:

A. Shapur Shahbazi was born in Shiraz and received his M.A. and Ph.D. in Archaeology from the University of London. He founded the Institute of Achaemenid Research at Persepolis in 1974 and served as its Director till 1979. He has taught at the universities of Shiraz, Tehran, Goettingen, Harvard, Columbia, and Eastern Oregon. As a world renowned scholar, he is the author of seventeen books and 150 articles in English, Persian, and German. His books include Cyrus the Great (Shiraz 1970), The Reign of Darius the Great (Tehran 1971), The Old Persian Inscriptions of the Persepolis Platform (London 1985), Ferdowsi: A Critical Biography (Harvard University Press 1991), and Persepolis Illustrated, the fourth revised and enlarged edition of which is the present volume. He was recently a Senior Research Scholar at Columbia University and currently serves as the Advisor to the newly constituted Foundation for the Parsa-Pasargadae Research.
